Nationals Boot Away Ball Game in

Ninth Inning, Browns Winning.

"After you my dear Gaston," proved the undoing of Water Johnson and Nationals, in the first game of the series with the St. Louis Browns, yesterday at the Florida Avenue Stadium, as this little act was staged in the first half of the ninth inning, when Washington was leading, 2 to 0. The Jonesmen took advantage of this slip-up and went one extra inning to land the victory, 4 to 2. It was the tenth straight defeat of the Nationals. With victory almost within their grasp, these Griffmen booted away the old ball game, and presented it to the Browns on a silver platter. Old Man Plank was an unsolved problem for the Griffmen after the opening session, when two runs were pushed across the counting block, while Walter Johnson looked like the smoke ball king of old, and should have added another one to his small string of victories.

Fleider Jones sent the veteran southpaw to the showers in the ninth to make room for a pinch hitter, and Sloan, who did the pinch honors, started the trouble for Johnson and the local tribe. Bobby Austin drew a base on balls and Sisler lift a high fly to short right field close to the foul line. Elimer Smith, Ray Morgan and Joe Judge pulled the Alphonzo-Gaston act and the ball landed safe. Sloan and Austin, who had stationed themselves half way, moved up, and in attempting to cut down Austin at second. Elmer Smith threw to the left field stands, both runners crossing the plate with the needed tallies.

Boots by McBride and Milan paved the way for the winning and extra runs scored by the Browns. Marsan opened the tenth with a two-base blow to left field. Pratt hit a grounder at McBride, who set himself for a play at third on Marsan, but he kicked the horsehide at Judge's station. Johnson sacrificed Pratt to second and he raced across when Milan booted Rumler's hit to center field.

Timely clouts, with two men down, by Shanks and Smith save the Nationals Ninth Inning, Browns Winning.

Defeat Gore and Hillyer in Patriotic Iennis Tourney at Columbia Club.
Yesterday was an off one in the patriotic tennis tournament which is being played under the auspices of the Middle Atlantic Association on the Columbia Country Club courts, as but few matches were played.

The best of the day was that in which Slater and Chapman defeated Gore and Hillyer in the first round of the men's singles. Individually, both Gore and Hillyer are superior to the other two, but they could not get to working well as a team, and this is responsible for their defeat. After taking the opening set, 6-0, the Gore-Hillyer combination "blew up" and lost the next two, both of which were deuced. Summaries.

MEN'S SINGLES.

Timely clouts, with two men down, by Shanks and Smith gave the Nationals their two scores in the first inning. Judge walked, but was forced out by Foster. Milan forced "Fatima," but Shanks hit and Milan took third. Howard then stole second, and both runners scored when Smith poled a sharp one to left field. The score:

Cornell to Continue Athletics.

Ithaca, N. Y., June 1.—Up at Ithaca Cornell authorities expect to resume college sports next fall, with football taking its customary place as a leading factor. Many of the first string griding performers have already joined some branch of military service, and Coach Al Sharpe is at present in an officers reserve training camp. He expects to enter some branch of the service.

However, Dan Reed and Ray Van Orman, assistants to Sharpe, are not yet affiliated with military service and should provide able coaching for the Cornellians this fall.
